Star photos by VINCE FEDOROFF

ART TALK – Krystle Silverfox talks about her work at Saturday artist's talk.

Inaugural Yukon Prize is awarded

Photo by MIKE THOMAS/YUKON ARTS CENTRE

ANNOUNCING THE WINNER – David Trick and Julie Jai, the Yukon Prize for the Visuals Arts co-founders, announce Joseph Tisiga as the winner of the $20,000 prize during Saturday's gala show at the Yukon Arts Centre.

The 2021 Yukon Prize for Visual Arts has been won by Yukoner Joseph Tisiga, it was announced Saturday at the gala at the Yukon Arts Centre. The prize is worth $20,000.

The event included performances by Diyet Music and Amelia Rose Slobogean.

There were six finalists out of 107 artists applying for the prize: Ken Anderson, Amy Ball, Krystle Silverfox, Sho Sho "Belelige" Esquiro, Veronica Verkley and Tisiga.

At an artist's talk at the arts centre on Saturday afternoon, five of the six artists spoke to a small group about their work.

Photo by MIKE THOMAS/YUKON ARTS CENTRE

JUDGING ARTWORK – Candice Hopkins, an internationally known independent curator and a citizen of Carcross-Tagish First Nation, talks about the six finalists' work Saturday during the Yukon Prize for Visuals Arts gala at the Yukon Arts Centre.

FACE TIME – Ken Anderson talks about his work Saturday.

INTERNATIONALLY RENOWNED – Sho Sho 'Belelige' Esquiro talks about her work Saturday. Esquiro has shown her work around North America as well as in Paris, France.

established 1900 - Yukon Territory

illegitimus non carborundum

WHITEHORSE STAR

Monday, November 22, 2021

vol. 121, no. 139

Quality Concrete since 1980!

TERRITORIAL CONTRACTING
WHITEHORSE YT

668-5194

Non-confidence motion set

YP out to bring down Liberals, but NDP won't break their agreement.....2

Also in the news, below

Star photo by VINCE FEDOROFF

YUKON PRIZE WINNER – Joseph Tisiga is seen at an artist's talk on Saturday afternoon at the Yukon Arts Centre. Tisiga won the $20,000 Yukon Prize for Visual Arts. See more photos, p. 4.

LOCAL NEWS

Search for man is still continuing

James Kunuk was last seen here in 2016.....3

NATION

MPs return to House of Commons

Liberals set deadline to pass new aid bill.....8

LOCAL SPORTS

Commissioner hands out awards

Former Yukon Quest president a recipient....15

weather:

Tonight	Tuesday	Wednesday
-19	-14/-16	-10/-12

$1.00

visit us at: whitehorsestar.com